

Jeenat Mehareen (PhD Student), Kayly Choy, Yiwei Yin, Don Sin, Mohsen Sadatsafavi (Supervisor)
Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, University of British Columbia

Jeenat Mehareen (PhD Student), Kayly Choy, Yiwei Yin, Don Sin, Mohsen Sadatsafavi (Supervisor)
Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, University of British Columbia

To examine the extent of heterogeneity in burden of COPD across geographic regions in British Columbia

To examine the heterogeneity in trends of COPD burden across geographic regions

Time

2010-2020

Exposure

Health
Service
Delivery Area

Outcome

- Prevalence
- Incidence
- Mortality
- Hospital Admission

Descriptive Statistics

Adjusted
Generalized
Linear
Model

Trend
Adjusted
Generalized
Linear Model

Datasets

Vital Statistics

Consolidation files

Hospital Separations

Medical Services Plan

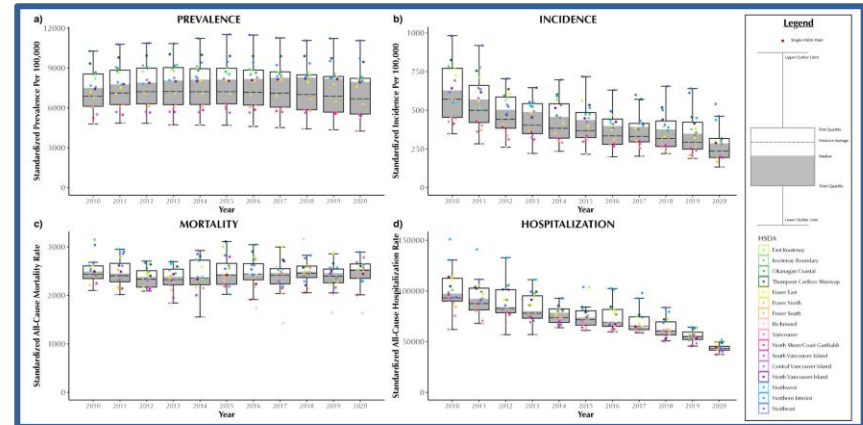

Patients
312,014

Female
48%

Mean Age
68.2 years

There are significant differences in COPD outcomes based on location

On average, there was up to a three-fold difference in incidence and prevalence rates and a two-fold difference in mortality and hospitalization rates across regions